

Boroughs Taking Needed Steps, State Advised

BOROUGH MANAGER Harold E. Snyder, of Stroudsburg, sent a letter to Forests and Waters Secretary Maurice K. Goddard last night in reply to the latter's announced March 4 deadline for obtaining rights of way for the proposed $3,000,000 flood control project here.

Snyder's letter states that no property lines were given in the original right-of-way drawings for the project, and that certain changes requested from Goddard's department were also to be entered on the drawings.

Additionally, Snyder reports that the plans received were of a preliminary nature, and as such an ordinance to condemn land, from either East Stroudsburg or Stroudsburg, could not be passed until the final plans were received.

Measures Taken
Snyder assured Goddard that both boroughs were proceeding with all possible speed to perform the necessary duties.

The letter reads:
"In your letter of January 27, 1960 it is stated that your reports indicate that right-of-way drawings were transmitted to the Boroughs of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg on April 10, 1959 and sufficient time has now elapsed for obtaining necessary rights-of-way.

"It is further stated that unless the required rights-of-way are furnished prior to March 4, 1960 it will be necessary for the department to withdraw the allocation and reallocate the funds to other projects.

"I respectfully invite your attention to the fact that the right-of-way drawings to which you refer contained no property lines and consequently the borough could not determine from them the property owners involved and the extent to which each property was affected by the proposed construction.

"I explained this in my letter of April 23, 1959 and pointed out that in the absence of such drawings it would be necessary for the Borough Engineer to do the necessary work to supply the required information and mapping.

Work Done By Hess
It was subsequently ascertained that your engineers were not in position to supply the property lines, as you pointed out in your letter of April 28, 1959, and, therefore, Mr. Hess, who is the Borough Engineer for both Stroudsburg and East

32 Miners Killed, 10 Still Sought

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Gas-masked rescue workers on Tuesday penetrated to the bottom levels of the smoldering Yubari coal mine where 32 miners died in an explosion Monday.

Ten miners are missing in the gas-choked pits and believed dead. Twenty survivors were brought to the surface Monday.

A gas explosion trapped 62 persons in the mine at Yubari in Japan's northern island of Hokkaido. One rescue team member died of gas poisoning after his portable oxygen tank gave out.

20 Escape
The last rescued survivor was carried to the snow-covered surface of the mine and was rushed to the hospital in serious condition.

Nine miners, their faces seared and coated with grime, crawled from the shaft without aid. Rescue teams saved 10 more from a flaming pit where they were trapped. One was burned badly.

About 500 relatives and friends of the men huddled in the freezing cold around the mine entrance. Many in Yubari had known tragedy before. A similar explosion at the mine in 1938 killed 160 men. "The coal was beginning to burn everywhere," said Yoshitaro Saito, 29, an engineer who escaped with six others. "Cave-ins occurred one after another, blocking our way."

BUCK HILL FALLS — The Council for Christian Social Action of the United Church of Christ asserted yesterday that married couples are morally obligated to space and limit the birth of children.

The Council said these couples owe a responsibility to other families on the earth to see that material resources are shared fairly.

In a resolution on responsible parenthood and the population explosion the Council said Christian teaching concerning the rights of people yet unborn demands we learn how to control population growth.

Finch Threatened Wife, Trial Told

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Barbara Jean Finch was threatened by her estranged husband, wealthy Dr. R. Bernard Finch, the day before she was shot to death at her luxurious West Covina home, according to trial testimony Monday.

Minette Haber of Palm Springs, Calif., said Mrs. Finch called her July 17 "and asked if she could come down for the weekend," Mrs. Finch, 36, was slain the next evening.

Dr. Finch and his red-haired mistress, Carole Treggio, are on trial accused of her murder.

Algiers Revolt Fails; Insurgents Surrender

ALGIERS (AP) — The French insurrection in Algiers ended ingloriously Monday with one of the two leaders in custody and the other in flight.

The last die-hards marched out of the barricades after getting a harsh army ultimatum to form a unit with the French Foreign Legion to fight Algeria's Moslem rebels or go home and face possible trial for subversion.

Moving firmly to end the eight-day uprising, President Charles de Gaulle's government laid down the unbending alternatives. They were relayed to the insurgents by a paratroop colonel at a meeting behind the barricades Sunday night. A government spokesman said 420 of the insurgents who surrendered with their goateed military leader, Pierre Lagailarde, agreed to serve with the Legion as a special unit. Gen. Jean Crepin, Algiers corps commander, said they would fight the Algerian nationalists who have been in revolt against French rule for five years. Lagailarde, 29, a deputy in the French Parliament, was in the hands of the authorities, and his fate apparently will be considered separately.

Ortiz Flees

Joseph Ortiz, the saloon keeper who was political boss of the insurrection, fled as his comrades fled out of the barricades to surrender. The spokesman had no news of his whereabouts.

The spokesman said all the men with Lagailarde had been told they could return to their families but that if they did so they faced investigations.

These investigations would be made by authorities sent from Paris, not local officials who might be sympathetic. Those insurgents would be tried who were found to have participated in an "attack on the internal security of the state," the spokesman said. The investigations also apparently apply to all the men who were in the barricades at one time or another during the uprising.

The settlers' rising that began Jan. 21 with a street battle in which 20 died collapsed without another shot fired.

The insurgents were loaded into army trucks and taken to a camp near Algiers.

Barricades Smashed

Down came the insurgents' barricades of paving stone and rubble—bristling symbols of their defiance of President de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria's nine million Moslems.

After De Gaulle's speech Friday commanding the army to restore order, the Algiers generals brought up overwhelming force Sunday. They cordoned off the insurgent camp in the center of the city from direct support of the civilian population.

When the showdown came, the screaming mobs who had cheered the insurgents with cries of "Algeria is French" were nowhere in sight.

Left in isolation, bombarded with leaflets and loudspeaker broadcasts, the defenders of the barricades gave in.

It was estimated that in all about 1,000 Frenchmen had marched out of the barricades. The rest slipped away during the night. At one time it was estimated that the men behind the barricades numbered 5,000 men.

Guards Vanish

Territorial guards, who had been thrown in their lot with the insurgents, were the first to crack. They started leaving the barricades Sunday. Some marched out in groups. Others vanished into side streets.

The organized insurgent units were taken to a camp at Zeralda, 20 miles from Algiers. All visitors to the camp were turned away, including the mother and father of Lagailarde who drove out with the city as soon as their son's whereabouts became known.

$5 Million Voted Schools To Correct Fire Hazards

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Republican-controlled Senate Monday night pushed for a five-million-dollar appropriation to public schools to help finance correction of fire hazards.

The Senate Rules Committee made the change in a House-passed measure making minor changes in the Commonwealth's $1,832,000,000 budget. The Democratic-controlled House last week defeated the same type of proposal.

The additional money would be placed in the State Education Fund. The 1959 Legislature authorized use of money from the fund to help school districts and state colleges make the repairs.

Officials had estimated the $3,300,000 fund would not cover all the applications for fire hazard assistance.

College Repairs

The law provides that principal and interest of the fund will be used for 100 per cent of the cost of repairs to state colleges. The grants to school districts would vary, depending on the district's assessed valuation per teaching unit.

The House-passed measure approved by the rules committee also includes an amendment to the administrative code permitting the governor to transfer up to 10 million dollars from other appropriations to use for relief payments if needed.

The administration claims the 350-million-dollar appropriation (about half of it in federal matching funds) would be exhausted by the end of the year at the present rate of payments. It predicts the fund may wind up as much as $3 millions short by the end of the biennium, May 31, 1961.

Other Legislative Developments

Adjournment—House Democrats moved to adjourn the 1960 Legislature on Wednesday but Senate Republicans held out for a recess until June 6.

The situation created an impasse between the two chambers. Neither House can adjourn without permission of the other.

Schools—House Republicans piggybacked a plan to earmark any budget surplus to increase state aid to schools. Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, said his colleagues felt it would be premature to offer a measure at this time.

Confirmation—The senate confirmed, 42-2, the appointment of

Church Council Opposes Betting

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Council of Churches Monday reaffirmed its opposition on harness horse races.

The action by the some 200 delegates to the council's 49th General Assembly was an endorsement of a position adopted by its board of directors some two months ago.

The State Legislature in the final minutes of the 1959 session approved a measure legalizing pari-mutuel betting on harness horse races only. It was approved by Gov. David L. Lawrence and several organizations are now pushing to get pari-mutuel tracks in operation.

Rockefellers Expecting Baby

NEW YORK (AP) — Steven Rockefeller, son of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, confirmed Monday night he and his Norwegian bride are expecting a child. He did not say when.

Young Rockefeller was married last August in Soenne, Norway, to Anne-Marie Rasmussen, onetime maid in the home of Gov. Rockefeller.

William F. O'Hara, Scranton, to a vacancy on the Public Utility Commission, turning the agency over to Democratic control for the first time in nearly 20 years.

The Senate also knocked down, as it did in the 1959 session, the nominations of Herbert J. McGlinchey, Philadelphia, and Raymond E. Gardlock, New Kensington, to places on the State Tax Equalization Board.

Harness Racing—A $5,000 appropriation to run the new State Harness Racing Commission was approved by the Senate Rules Committee.

Station wagons—The House received legislation to eliminate the extra $2 tacked on the annual license fee for station wagons. But the measure was given little chance of passage.

Commissioners List 4-Point Program For Ending CAS Dispute

Interstate Roads To Share Equal Priority, Says Martin

HARRISBURG (AP) — All interstate road projects proposed in a 12-year construction program for Pennsylvania will share equal priority, Highways Secretary Park H. Martin said Monday.

Martin said he was trying to develop plans and start construction on all projects as quickly as possible with the federal funds available.

"I intend to live up to the commitments I have made on all of these projects insofar as we have federal funds to work with," he said.

Commenting on a report that the Delaware Expressway may be assigned first priority in interstate road building, the secretary said he would be reluctant "to assign a first, second or third priority to any interstate project."

Shortway Priority

He added that the Keystone Shortway, Anthracite Expressway and Pittsburgh-Erie Freeway would enjoy as high a priority as the Delaware Expressway.

"But you must realize that our interstate allocations were cut last October from 113 million dollars to 71 millions, and when you don't have the money to work with, something has to give," he said.

In an interview Saturday with a Philadelphia newspaperman, Martin was quoted as saying: "I am more or less committed to give priority to the Delaware Expressway." The first contracts for the Bucks County section will be awarded next month, he said.

Secondary Rating

(Martin was quoted further as saying the Keystone Shortway and other major interstate projects will be given secondary priority if federal funds are not available in the next 12 years in amounts needed to finance a

$3 billion road program. "If we don't get the money we need, we will build only the most usable sections of the Keystone Shortway, Anthracite Expressway and the Pittsburgh-Erie project," Martin explained. The Shortway and Delaware Expressway each will cost $300,000,000 and the Anthracite Expressway, $200,000,000.

Gates Questions Estimate Of Red Strike-Back Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. Monday disputed as unrealistic the Strategic Air Command's estimate that the Soviet Union could demolish U.S. strike-back ability in 30 minutes with 300 missiles.

The estimate, made by Gen. Thomas S. Power, SAC commander, in a recent speech, was thrown before Gates by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) while the defense chief was being questioned by a Senate Appropriation subcommittee about the new $39,335,000,000 military budget.

Symington, who contends the Eisenhower administration is letting the Soviet Union pull steadily out front in missiles, wanted to know why the Pentagon was asking for only 15 per cent of what Gen. Power declared would be needed to keep some of his long-range nuclear bombers aloft and ready at all times.

Considered by JCS

Gates told Symington that Power's views were thoroughly considered by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the chiefs do not agree with the SAC commander.

"I don't want to be disparaging of Gen. Power," the defense secretary said, "but we do believe his estimate of mathematical probability is unrealistic in relation to the facts."

The Joint Chiefs do not feel it necessary now to start an airborne alert, Gates said and noted the budget contains 90 million dollars to get ready for such a round-the-clock bomber alert, if and when needed.

Power also has been much more drastic in his estimates of probable Soviet missile strength in the years ahead. Last week the Strategic Air Command chief said it was conceivable the Soviet Union could have enough long-range rockets in two years to permit a massive attack on the United States.

Numerical Advantage

In his statement to the appropriations group Monday, Gates gave assurances — as he has before — that the Soviet Union would have only a moderate numerical superiority in long-range missile during the next three years.

He said anew that over — all U.S. retaliatory capability — based on a big bomber force and a growing arsenal of land and submarine-based missiles — will be enough to deter the Soviet Union from any sane decision to attack.

In sum, Gates said, this country's defenses are so strong any attacker — meaning the Soviet Union — "would simply be inviting his own destruction."

Rebel Leader Is Flown To Paris Prison

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Lagailarde, defeated leader of the Algerian insurgents, was flown to Paris Monday night and put in prison.

Less than 12 hours after he marched out of the Algiers barricades at the head of his dispirited followers, Lagailarde arrived here in a military plane.

The paratroop reserve lieutenant and deputy in the French National Assembly was taken to the grim Sante Prison under heavy guard.

Attack on State

Inside the prison, an assistant prosecutor told Lagailarde that he had been charged with an attack on the security of the state.

Deputies are immune from arrest unless they are caught in the act of committing a crime. Lagailarde apparently made no effort to plead parliamentary from arrest.

Before Lagailarde's arrival the French Cabinet decided to ask for broad special powers to clean up the aftermath of the rightist rebellion. Parliament was called into an emergency one-day session Tuesday to approve the request.

Bangor Borough Council Fails To Adopt Budget Due To Wage Tax Disagreement

BANGOR — Borough council was unable to adopt the proposed budget of $139,160 here last night because of the inability of the councilmen to agree over a one per cent wage tax.

The council voted 5 and 5 with two members abstaining.

Chief Burgess Quintis LaBar was asked to cast a ballot to break the tie but instead deferred action until a special meeting to be held Monday, Feb. 8.

He assured the councilmen that if at that time there would be a tie he would cast the deciding vote. He did not indicate which way he would vote.

Several increases in salaries were noticed in the proposed budget. They were $300 to Joseph DeFranks, park manager; $100 to Joseph Miller, street superintendent; $100 to William J. Sleeman, borough secretary; and $100 each to the regular members of the police department.

Council did approve an obligation on the part of the borough of $6,680 for improvement of Route 90 through the borough as proposed by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

Authorization was granted to make a loan up to $25,000 to cover borough expenses until the 1960 tax money was received.

At the request of the Bangor Lions club, and with the approval of the Bangor Library Board, council gave permission to the club to prepare plans and submit an estimate for the installation of public lavatories in the basement of the Public Library building.

The following were appointed as special police for a two-year period: Sherwood Holland, Edgar Delitz, Russell Yahaes, and Pasquale Vicario. The application of Thomas Cuono for police officer was received and placed on file for further reference.

Daniel Joella was re-appointed to the Borough Park Board for another regular term.

The report from the Board of Health was read and approved. Following the report A. M. Williams was re-appointed to the Board of Health for a five-year term.

Aid Society To Control Own Staff

MONROE County Commissioners yesterday released a four-point program for maintaining friendlier relations with the Children's Aid Society in the future.

Commissioners John R. Lesoine, Willard Quick and Stanley Rader emerged from an executive session lasting more than an hour and announced the four points.

They said the new conditions should help settle the dispute that has existed between the commissioners and the CAS for more than six weeks and would be in line with the joint agreement reached last Friday by the two groups.

The four points are:

"(1) The Aid Society will make reports to the county as agreed in the new contract, and will supply all requested information on all cases involving county funds.

"(2) Regular meetings between the commissioners and a committee of the Aid Society will be held at a time fixed in the contract.

"(3) The Children's Aid Society will retain control over its internal management which shall include the right to select its staff.

"(4) The Aid Society will continue to operate as now constituted until April 1, 1960, to afford an opportunity to work out a written contract in that time."

The closed session yesterday was held between the commissioners, their solicitor, Leo Acherman, and Arlington Williams, attorney, who has been acting as intermediary in the dispute between CAS and the county officials.

Meeting Reopened

Just before releasing the four points, it was pointed out that an informal meeting had been held last Friday in an effort to end the difficulties which extend back to Dec. 18 when the commissioners sent Mrs. Violet Jones, president of CAS, the letter stating services of CAS would no longer be needed by the county at the end of a two-week period. The deadline later was changed to Feb. 1.

The four points did not mention the status of Albert J. Molitor, present executive secretary of CAS, who, the commissioners stressed up until yesterday's meeting, had to leave the post. When asked yesterday about Molitor and his future, the only comment was "Draw your own conclusions."

No Apology

However, the statement made by the commissioners contained no apology for Molitor, as Mrs. Jones had said last week would be required.

At that time, Mrs. Jones said she and the other board members had pleaded with Lesoine during a session held Sunday, Jan. 24, to reveal just why differences existed between the commissioners and Molitor.

Mrs. Jones said Lesoine had reported that he "didn't like him" and Quick had said he "didn't like him (Molitor) from the beginning."

This, she said, pointed up the fact that the entire matter was personal, and directed against Molitor, rather than general and against the entire CAS and its operations.

Yesterday, Mrs. Jones said the four points brought out by the commissioners were articles the society had desired from the beginning from the county.

She said a rough draft of a contract had been offered the commissioners following the joint meeting held Jan. 11 in the court house, but at that time the CAS was turned down.

Dr. Irwin One Of Area's Top Musicians

THE MUSICAL life of the county for many years owed much to the late Dr. Robert B. Irwin of Birch Acres who died Saturday morning in the Robert Packer Memorial Hospital following a sudden illness.

A member of the Elmira, N. Y. Symphony Orchestra, he transferred his musical interests to this community when he moved here in 1926. From then until as late as 1945, his violin was an important part of many musical groups.

These included the several Monroe County Symphony orchestras, one under the direction of Willard Wolfe, another under the baton of Andrew Weingartner.

With Orchestra
Dr. Irwin also played with an orchestra which included Ernest Michelfelder, Herbert Kistler, Lowell Terpenning, Willard Wolfe and Matt Kime which played at local resorts as well as at different church and community functions.

Masonic services will be conducted today at 1:30 p.m. in the Daniel G. Warner Funeral Home with interment in Nichols, N. Y. the following day.

McElwain At State Legion Meet

MELVIN McElwain, Commander of the 30th District of The American Legion was among top-ranking officials attending the state executive committee meeting at Scranton Saturday. Dr. You Chan Yang, ambassador of the Republic of Korea to The United States, was the principal speaker at the dinner honoring state commander William T. Malone, which brought to a conclusion the business session.

District commander McElwain reported a total of six members from this area and was commended for the fine showing. Samuel J. C. Greene, chairman of the convention liaison committee, outlined plans for the state Legion convention to be held July 20 to 23, in Philadelphia.

The first statewide American Legion college recently conducted at Indianopolis Gap Military Reservation was the subject of a documentary film narrated by Joseph P. Gavenonia, past state commander and dean of the Legion college.

Favored Resolutions
Among the resolutions favorably considered was a call for the strengthening of veterans' preference laws and a proposal that the new 50 star flag be the subject of a new series of postage stamps to further respect for the national emblem. Lezner County Orphans Court Judge Paul R. Selecky, a past state commander, headed the resolution committee.

Dr. A. H. Wittman, chairman of the state child welfare committee, reported on the progress and objectives of his committee. Juvenile Aid committee chairman Harry G. Fox listed his committee's activities covering the latest youth program which deals with delinquency.

Walter E. Allesandrini, U. S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania and national executive committee member from Pennsylvania reported on national Legion affairs.

Accompanying Commander McElwain were four of Post 346 and two of Post 9.

Seek Sunday Sales Violators

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons Sunday gave $40 to two policewomen and sent them out shopping for items forbidden to be sold on Sunday.

The policewomen reported they visited nine establishments and spent $13.93 making illegal purchases at seven of them.

Gibbons said the managers of the stores will be arraigned Tuesday in Central Police Court on warrants issued by a magistrate.

Among the items purchased by the policewomen were a lamp, stockings, three pairs of shorts for boys, and a mechanical toy.

The citations were the first in the city after a lapse of two weeks. There was no enforcement on Jan. 17 and 24 because of an injunction issued by Judge Ethan Allen Doty. The restraining order was lifted Jan. 22.

Meanwhile, in Bucks County, detectives handed out nine citations to Blue Law violators Sunday in Butch's Auction Market near U. S. 1. Detective Clarence Irwin said the violators were selling toys and hardware, and running an auction.

Dr. Spencer Rites Held

NEWFOUNDLAND — Dr. Herbert Spencer, former president of Bucknell University, whose home is located on Huckleberry Hill here, was buried yesterday in New York City.

Dr. Spencer died Friday night in his New York apartment.

He was president of the mid-state University from 1945-49. Following his position at Bucknell, he served as executive director of the Samuel H. Dress Foundation.

Before going to Bucknell, he was president of the Pennsylvania College for Women for 10 years, and also served as Dean of Men at the University of Pittsburgh.

Must Label Shell Eggs

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Agriculture Department Monday said all receptacles used in marketing of shell eggs in Pennsylvania will have to be properly marked or labeled, effective Feb. 20.

The department said it was broadening a requirement that only six and 12-egg cartons have to be labeled before they reach the consumer market.

John L. Rainey, director of the bureau of markets, said all consumer receptacles must be marked in a plain and conspicuous manner with a statement of the consumer grade, the weight class, the date the eggs are placed in the package, and the name and address of the producer, packer, or distributor.

Alternatives to the dating regulation include marking the date of delivery or the "off-sale" date, providing the producer, packer or distributor registers with the department the system of dating to be used, he added.

Copper-Loaded Truck Stolen

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A flat-bed tractor-trailer loaded with 39,950 pounds of copper meant to be made into money was stolen from the yards of the Evans Transportation Co. in the Frankford section over the weekend.

The copper, valued at $16,000, was to have been delivered to the United States mint Monday. It was loaded in bars a half inch thick, five inches wide and 18 inches long.

Detective Albert Antoni said the truck, driven by Joseph Fritz, arrived from Sewaren, N. J. late Friday. It was last seen by a service mechanic when he closed the yard Saturday afternoon.

Stroudsburg Police Probe 2 Accidents

STROUDSBURG police were called upon twice yesterday morning to investigate two accidents.

The first accident occurred at 9:30 a.m. at 7th and Courthouse Square, when Miss Ella Mae Torzillo, 541 N. 5th St., Stroudsburg, pulled away from the curb. Her car was hit by Ray L. Everett, Fabies Flats, Stroudsburg. Damage to both cars was estimated at $100.

The second accident occurred at the corner of 9th and Main St. at 11:50 a.m. when Claude A. Pope, 30, of Tobyhanna made a "U" turn in his pick-up truck. His truck was struck by a tractor-trailer owned by Red Star Freight Lines and operated by Richard L. Merrill, Gratton RD 2, N. Y.

Reported damage to both trucks was estimated at $100.

GOP Club Hears Talk

PORTLAND—Edwin Bennett discussed political education at a meeting of the Portland-Mt. Bethel Republican Club. A 10-week course is now underway with Bennett as instructor.

No action was taken on purchase of a home for the club. It was announced that registration will be held at the Bee Hive, Bangor, at a date to be announced. Plans for a card party in late April were discussed.

The club voted $25 for the Dr. Edwin Krause fund. The doctor is hospitalized in Philadelphia.

To chart tomorrow's course, today's news is essential

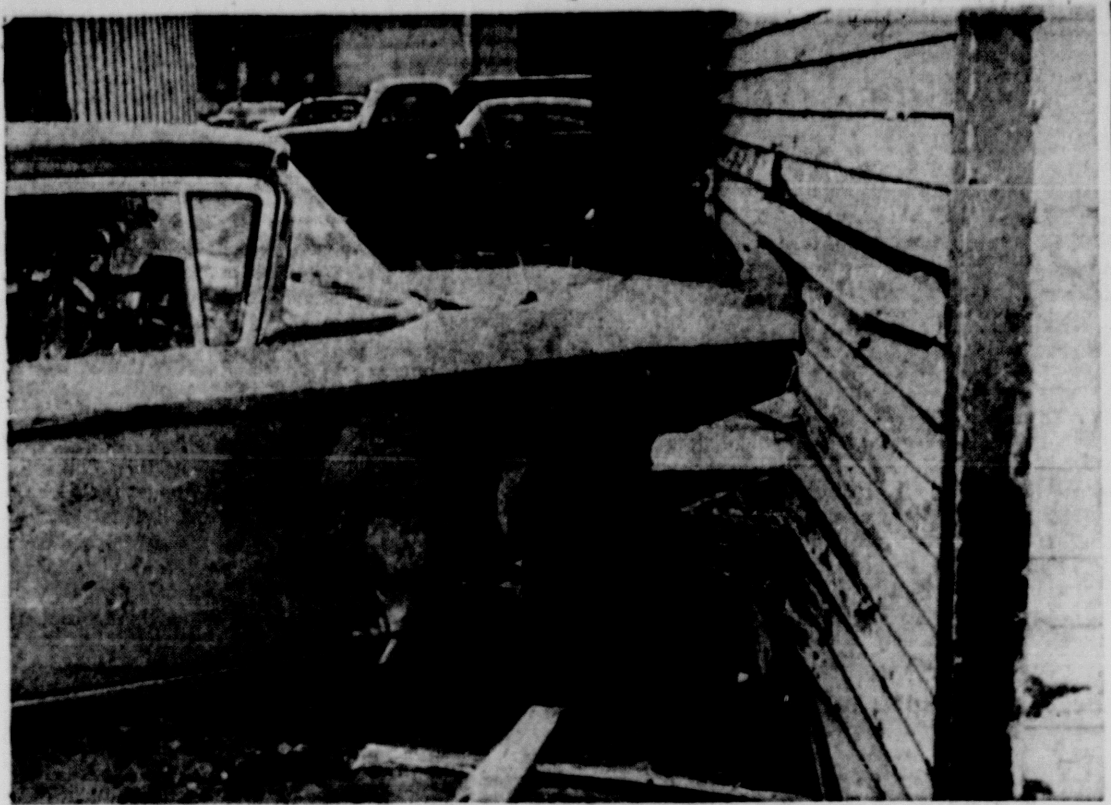

In today's fast-moving world, top business management must forever be on the alert to anticipate far-reaching new developments, surging new trends, imperative new needs.

The "shape of things to come" in the future is taking form today and every day. Successfully to meet the challenge of tomorrow, management must keep itself accurately informed on what is happening today and every day.

To plan ahead effectively, management must know the facts and figures that bear directly or indirectly on business in general and on its own business in particular. For fast, accurate, comprehensive coverage of this essential information, management turns with confidence to its newspaper. Its regular perusal and study becomes a "must" . . . not only in the formulation of long-range plans, but in the day-to-day operation of a business so as to effectively meet new needs and seize new opportunities, as they arise. Thus the newspaper becomes a basic business tool for top management everywhere.

The farmer planning his crops, the student planning his career, the wife planning her homemaking . . . everyone can better anticipate tomorrow for the accurate knowledge of today's news as presented in the newspaper.

Mr. Terboss is the son of Mrs. Laura Hoffman Terboss and the late George E. Terboss, Sr., of East Stroudsburg.

He had been employed by the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania as a line foreman for the past 20 years.

Mr. Terboss was a member of the Moose Lodge in Bloomsburg where he had been a resident for the past five years. His prior residence was in East Stroudsburg.

In addition to his mother he is survived by his wife Mrs. Mildred Bush Terboss, Bloomsburg; one daughter, Mrs. Janet Klingel, Stroudsburg; two grandchildren; three sisters: Mrs. Ruth DeBois, White Plains, N. Y.; Mrs. Bertha Laise, Manchester, Conn.; Mrs. Mary Buzenli, East Stroudsburg; two brothers, Conrad and John Terboss, both of East Stroudsburg.

Funeral services will be held Thursday in the Lanterman Funeral Home at 2 p.m. with Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiating. Interment will be in the Prospect Cemetery, East Stroudsburg.

Friends and relatives may call at the Lanterman Funeral Home, East Stroudsburg, Wednesday after 7 p.m.

Three Youngsters Escape Injury As Car Hits House

THREE youngsters narrowly escaped injury at 2:04 p.m. yesterday when a two-car accident at Fourth and McConnell Sts. sent one of the cars through the side of the house in which they live.

As reported by Stroudsburg police, here is what happened: Cars driven by Mrs. Alwine Engle, 61, Stroudsburg, RD 2, and Evelyn Primrose, 24, East Stroudsburg, RD 1, collided at the intersection after the Primrose car went through a stop sign.

Smashes Into—The Primrose car, after the crash, smashed into the side of a house occupied by the Robert Halstead family. It is owned by Henry Ruster.

Barbara Halstead, 16, who suffered a broken leg in a fall on ice three weeks ago, had just left her bed when the car plowed into the house and hit the bed, knocking it across the room.

On Edge Of Bed—Her brother, Lewis, 15, was sitting on the edge of the bed at the time, mending a doll for another sister, Elizabeth, three, who was sitting nearby on a chair watching him.

As the car crashed into the room, Lewis grabbed Elizabeth and neither was hurt. Damage was estimated at $900 to Mrs. Engle's car and $800 to the Primrose vehicle. There was no estimate of damage to the house.

Washington Birthday Sale Planned By Businessmen

PLANS FOR A Washington's Birthday sale to be held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 19 and 20, were discussed at a meeting of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. last night at the Colonial Diner.

Jesse Pierson, promotion committee chairman, said final plans for the event will be completed this week and members will be advised on details by mail.

Home Economic Fair—Pierson also spoke on a home economic fair and display to be held in May and the group voted to participate by establishing displays in their stores and offering cash prizes for winners.

Herman Lax, president, announced that John Wilson, past president of the association, will leave this week to become store supervisor in the Hagerstown, Md., area for J. J. Newberry Co.

Lax appointed committees for the year and announced the next meeting will be Monday, March 7.

Portland Ordinance

PORTLAND—Council instructed solicitor Alfred Nittle to prepare an ordinance prohibiting the dumping of garbage or other refuse within the borough limits at their meeting last night. This ordinance will be submitted at their next meeting.

Another point of business was a tax ordinance, setting the millage at six mills. This is an increase of one mill.

Also at the meeting a resolution was passed prohibiting parking on the left or south side of State St. from the Fire House to the intersection of Route 611.

Budget figures for general operational expenses for 1960 of $7,972.50 also were read and approved.

William Brodt presided over the meeting.

Schmidt Pleads Guilty, Is Placed On Probation

SHERWIN Franklin Schmidt, 25, of 11 N. Warren St., Easton, was fined $300 and costs and placed on probation for five years on each of two counts of burglary in Monroe County Court yesterday. He pleaded guilty.

Judge Fred W. Davis suspended sentence on a charge of larceny of an automobile.

Schmidt was charged with burglaries at the summer homes of Marguerite Sperdovitch, Stroudsburg, RD 1, and Dr. Roman Batory, Stroud Township. The motor vehicle charge was brought by East Stroudsburg police.

Served 3-7—Schmidt was released in January after serving three years and seven months in Northampton County Prison for a series of burglaries in the Easton area.

Charles G. Stitzer, 33, of 70 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, charged with larceny and forgery of a check, received three years probation on the larceny charge in addition to a $500 fine and costs.

He was directed to pay $20 weekly on the fine and costs. Sentence was suspended on the forgery count.

Identical sentences were given two defendants who pleaded guilty to charges of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Fines, Costs—William S. Rowland, 53, Stroudsburg, and John R. Martin both were directed to pay $300 fines and costs. Rowland was directed to pay $150 down and the remainder within 30 days.

In non-support actions: Arden Eugene Wilde was directed to pay $8 weekly for support of his two children; Ivan Adams was ordered to pay $15 weekly for support of his two children; Thomas C. Wiley was directed to pay $10 a week for support of his wife and the costs within 30 days.

William F. Fritz was ordered to pay $5 weekly for support of his parents; Ronald Zwalley was directed to pay $15 weekly for support of his children and the costs within 30 days; Frederick Brush was ordered to pay $15 weekly.

Orders Amended—Bernard Hennion, charged with non-support, had a previous order calling for $5 a week amended to $10 weekly; Marshall Neiper, under a $20 a week order, had it amended to provide for payment of $3 weekly out of his unemployment check; Leo A. Smith, under a $25 weekly order, had it amended to provide $10 weekly for support of his wife and child and $5 a week on a $660 arrearage.

The non-support case against James Seese was dismissed and a non-support case against William A. Adams was heard, with decision reserved.

Charges of assault and battery and surety of the peace against Walter Fish were dropped when his wife, the complainant, requested the action through District Attorney James R. Marsh.

Found Not Guilty Of Deer Charge—JUDGE Fred W. Davis yesterday found Calvin Knapenberger of Lake Harmony not guilty of possessing illegal deer meat in an appeal from a summary conviction before Peace Justice Isaac Dyson of Long Pond.

Judge Davis directed Knapenberger to pay the costs.

Testifying at the hearing were John Spencer of Mt. Pocono, state game protector; Knapenberger and Robert Keiper, Long Pond, who said in an affidavit sworn to before Dyson that he gave part of the animal to Knapenberger.

Knapenberger testified that he was visiting a friend who is executive chef of the Pelham, N. Y., Country Club from Oct. 2 to 6 last year, during the period when Keiper was supposed to have given him the venison.

Basis Of Affidavit—Spencer said he swore out the information against Knapenberger on the basis of Keiper's affidavit. Knapenberger's story of his visit was confirmed by his friend, the chef.

Dist. Atty. James R. Marsh presented the Commonwealth's case, while Maxwell H. Cohen was attorney for Knapenberger.

Pipher Will Run For Assembly

STUART F. PIPHER, of Tannersville, last night announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for representative in the General Assembly at the April 26 primary election.

Pipher, a native of East Stroudsburg, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pipher, now caretakers of the Beaver Run Hunting and Fishing Club, Pike County. He is married to the former Myrtle Ellen Woodling, of Reeders. They have two daughters and have resided in Tannersville 11 years.

A construction electrician, Pipher is employed by the H. P. Foley Co. and is a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as well as the Stroudsburg Fraternal Order of Eagles, Tannersville Lions, Monroe County YMCA, Keystone Shortwave Assn. and the Pocono Township Volunteer Fire Co.

President of CLU—Pipher is president of the Central Labor Union of Monroe and Pike Counties, member of the Board of Directors of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, Monroe County Community Chest and Council, and a co-chairman of the Trades and Industrial Division of the Monroe County Cancer Fund.

He was active in the recent YMCA membership campaign, is an organizer and adviser of the Senior Citizens Club of Monroe and Pike Counties, treasurer of the Reeder's Methodist Church and a former assistant superintendent of the Sunday School.

Pipher is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, Churchman's Business College, Pennsylvania State University General Extension and has taken adult education courses in public relations and other subjects.

War Veteran—A veteran of World War II, he served four years in the U.S. Navy in both the European and Asiatic Theaters.

Pipher is the second candidate to announce for the Democratic nomination for assembly, the other being Rep. Van D. Yetter, incumbent. One Republican, Hanford L. Cleveland, also has announced.

Now is the time to erect an enduring Memorial, an expression of love and respect to those near and dear.

Boroughs Face Deadline

Will the Stroudsburgs lose their long-sought flood control project simply because they are unable to provide construction right-of-way to the State Department of Forests and Waters?

That's the implication one gets upon reading a letter sent to the boroughs by Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of the department.

"Unless the required rights of way are furnished prior to March 4, 1960," the secretary warned, "it will be necessary for the department to withdraw the allocation and reallocate the funds to other projects."

East Stroudsburg Borough officials blame their difficulty on a reluctance on the part of some 56 property owners to sign the required easement agreements, despite the fact that 14 other owners have already signed.

They strongly suggest that a majority of those people who have not agreed to terms are expecting land damages far in excess of what the properties are worth, and are holding out for "wind-fall" payments.

As The Daily Record pointed out previously, the affected property owners should be reimbursed fully for any damages resulting to their lands from construction of the flood control dikes.

None of them, however, should expect to reap a harvest at the expense of either the boroughs, the county or the state.

As a matter of fact, some of the properties are practically worthless as they now stand. Even if the dikes take a part of the land, what is left will be improved in value many times over because of the flood protection the project will provide.

Stroudsburg Borough reported 22 properties involved and agreements signed with five of the owners. Negotiations with several others are nearing completion, borough officials said, leaving about half of the 22 in the hold-out class.

Both boroughs have indicated they are pressing the matter of obtaining the easements, but they cannot move any faster until final state plans are forthcoming.

In the meantime, we suggest that both boroughs gear condemnation machinery and step in to seize the properties by law if the owners do not come to terms with the delegated authorities.

No one wants to see the owners deprived of their land without just compensation; we are confident they will be treated fairly.

Neither do we want to see the two communities lose the protection that the flood control program will afford the entire populace after it is completed.

Cost of the project is close to $3,000,000 and may even exceed that figure. As large as that amount seems, and as important as it is to the economy of the region, it is indeed small when measured in terms of the protection the project will provide in the years to come. Let's get on with the task at hand and meet the state's March 4 deadline.

Hunter's Moon

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Paar, New Expert On Cuba

I have acquired the habit of turning to Jack Paar as I understand to go to bed, he providing a fairly zany vaudeville show at that hour. Usually his program is not disturbing and thus suitable for one who expects to read for an hour and who eschews sleeping pills as unnecessary.

So I heard Jack Paar attempt to go political. He spoke on Cuba and while he has learned how to look almost sincerely childlike, I found it difficult to discover what point he was trying to make, except that he likes to go to Cuba and that for that reason he is an expert on Cuban affairs and that Fidel Castro is a wonderful man, which did not seem logical.

It is an exact example of bad thinking. I love to be in Peking and have had many friends there and some of them like me; nevertheless Mao Tse-tung is an evil tyrant.

He is an enemy of the United States and his early assassination would disturb me hardly at all.

A man in Jack Paar's audience heckled him. Jack Paar's producer did not show the heckler; his name was not asked or mentioned to the audience; no effort was made to amplify his voice and Jack Paar had the advantage that he could grimace while his heckler talked.

It was unfair. Furthermore, Jack Paar's punch-line question was quite stupid. It was the old gag, "Vass you there, Charley?" which proves nothing. The greatest astronomer that ever lived has never been on the Moon or on Saturn or Neptune.

Thousands of tourists go to Cuba who cannot speak a word of Caribbean Spanish. I do not know whether Jack Paar can. Those who cannot speak the language of a people can have no direct contact with the masses of a country.

My colleague, Jack O'Brian, who reports on television, quotes Jack Paar as saying:

"I've read such untruthful things about what was happening in Cuba. Now things have gotten so difficult now it's hard to get yourself involved with your heart because you get hit for it, but up until about a month ago, the things that were being written about Cuba for the most part from my experience weren't true — simply weren't true."

No political reporter would dare to make such a broad statement. Specifically what was untrue? It is untrue that Raul Castro is a Communist? Is it untrue that Fidel Castro has conducted a blood bath on his rise to power?

Is it untrue that Castro has confiscated the property of American citizens and imperiled their lives? Is it untrue that Castro's "Humanism" doctrine, as spoken in each of his speeches and as proclaimed in the various government pronouncements, is an adaptation of Marxism to the first stage of a Communist revolution?

Is it untrue that Castro has whipped up the antagonism of Cuban masses to the United States?

If Jack Paar can say that the questions I ask are untrue, I am prepared to give him chapter and verse on his own program, on condition that I am not interrupted either by his pianist or by his peddling of wares.

Further Paar said: "... This man Castro is beloved by these people and here is a history of four or five hundred years of poor little people with their kids living in dirt and now this man promises them something else. . . . We are needing that guy from the very beginning and I really thought it was unfair."

Lenin, Trotsky, Bukharin, Kollontai and all kinds of people in 1917 were promising the Russians "Liberty, Land and Bread." Now 42 years have passed. Do the Russian people have liberty? Did the Russian peasant get his land?

What have Castro's promises to do with reality? Hitler promised the German people the mastery of the human race for 1,000 years. Look at divided Germany today and ask, what was Hitler's promise worth?

It would seem to me that Jack Paar does better as an actor in a vaudeville show than as a political skill for an enemy of the United States who day by day is embarrassing our government.

What Paar said did not come over too clearly because his technique is not suitable for political discussion. But what I resented, as a listener, was his improper handling of the heckler who was not shown common courtesy.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

A reporter followed a campaigning senator for three grueling days through the mountainous country of the backlands. The senator was well past 60, but in those three days, he delivered 81 major speeches. "You amaze me," confessed the reporter at the end of the tour. "Here you've delivered 81 speeches in three days, and you appear fresher and more full of pep than when you started. How do you do it?"

The senator chuckled. "I didn't deliver 81 speeches, my boy," he remarked. "I delivered one speech 81 times!"

The question that probably had the most far-reaching consequences in history was the innocent sounding, "Helen, do you think anybody would be particularly concerned if I ran you over to Troy?"

Some of the Republicans who led the party in Northampton County for more than three decades held an informal gathering at the Pomfret Club in Easton last week.

The men, known in GOP circles as the "old guard," were the guests of Kenneth Kressler, former county chairman of Northampton who for years was a byword in state politics.

Monroe County was represented at the affair in the person of Ben K. Williams, an ex-GOP head in the area.

There were many other popular personalities from the record circulation area. Bangor had David Stoddard, Atty. J. Laurence Davis and Ray Young spelling that Slate Belt town, while William J. Dave, long-time Pen Argyl GOP standout, represented that area.

Others came from Wilson, Nazareth, Bethlehem and every other nook and corner of Northampton.

The talk, mostly, was of the good old days, brought back memories of trips to Harrisburg, Washington D. C. and other particular fights in each's respective territory.

Louis Caretta is out of the hospital and coming along fine these days. Lou, past commander of the American Legion Post, East Stroudsburg, was sidelined for a spell in Monroe County General.

Gaylord Heberling, Stroudsburg police officer who was publicly chairman for the first annual Fraternal Order of Police Show-Dance reports that the event was a financial and social success.

More than 430 persons made their way into the American Legion Hall, East Stroudsburg, and enjoyed themselves from 9 p.m. until the wee hours of the aye, Heberling said.

Inside Washington

Dems Claim Budget Unrealistic

Washington — It is arithmetic that causes Democrats to charge that the President's new budget is "unreal," and makes some Republicans express doubts that it can be achieved.

Senator Harry F. Byrd (D., Virginia), for instance, doubts that there will be any surplus at all. Byrd is the Senate's outstanding advocate of government economy. He makes a continuing study of government spending and revenues.

The President's advisers contend, however, that the budget is the President's program, and that it is unreal only to the extent that its recommendations are not followed.

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President Eisenhower is beginning to make some headway in his long struggle to induce Congress to repeal the 41-year-old 4½ percent interest ceiling on long-term government securities.

Leading Democratic opponents are significantly easing their attitude on that.

Instead of flatly backing at doing anything on this year-old demand of the President, the House and Senate leaders are now privately evincing willingness to come to terms.

That is an important shift in position, and a definite gain for the President. For the first time the way appears open for some kind of legislation.

However, a number of uncertain bridges still have to be crossed.

High Budget bureau officials contend that it is imperative to achieve a sizable surplus in these times of prosperity, not only in order to reduce the national debt, but to provide an anti-inflationary factor in the economy. Economists agree that the theory is correct, but they doubt whether it can be carried out in practice.

Meanwhile, the political potential in the battle of the budget looms as a potential factor in this session of Congress. Last year the President won this fight hands down. Democrats gave up the fight in mid-session and from then on concentrated on passing appropriations bills and spending authorizations which they deemed to be "veto proof."

What is more likely is that the President will be faced with a succession of measures that break through his proposed spending ceilings. It will be up to him to either reject them, or accept them as inevitable, and then have the Republican party, through its candidates, take the issue to the people during the political campaigns.

Interest Ceiling Repeal

Foremost among them is a compromise the election-minded Democrats will accept.

They are as adamant as ever against the President's proposal that the 4½ percent limitation be eliminated without any strings. In a special message to Congress several weeks ago, he contended this is "imperative" for the financial stability of the country.

He will not get that.

Whatever Congress does finally approve, it will be a compromise. The big backstage question is what that will be.

What's In The Wind — Currently most favored by the Democrats is a three-point plan that would:

Lift the 4½ ceiling for two years; limit the amount of bonds that could be issued under this provision to $50 billion; and empower the Treasury to retire them in five years, presumably at lower interest.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex., Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, Tex., Rep. Wilbur Mills (D., Ark.) chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and Senator Robert Kerr, Okla., ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee, are credited as being for this compromise.

It was formulated by the staff of the Senate Finance Committee, headed by Senator Harry Byrd (D., Va.).

Another alternative is being urged by House Democratic Leader John McCormack, Mass. He would increase the interest ceiling to five percent for two years, with no restrictions on the bonds floated during this period.

In the past, Treasury Secretary Anderson has been opposed to a five percent limitation and an early bond-retirement requirement.

But he is discussing all these proposals with the Democratic leaders. Their backstage deliberations on this issue are frequent and legislation on it appears definitely in the wind.

A significant indication of this is Representative Mills' desire that the Ways and Means Committee act on the matter without further hearings.

A series was held last year, and he contends new ones are unnecessary. This is being challenged by Representatives Lee Metcalf (D., Mont.), of the Ways and Means Committee, Wright Patman (D., Tex.), chairman of the Small Business Committee, and Senators Eugene McCarthy (D., Minn.), of the Finance Committee, and Joseph Clark (D., Pa.), of the Banking Committee.

Democratic insiders are convinced an understanding will be reached on the interest rate issue by the end of this month.

The Crystal Ball — the long fight to equalize military retirement pay is nearing a successful end. That's the inside word from Representative Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), and Paul Kilday (D., Tex.), top members of the House Armed Services Committee. They are telling colleagues a pay equalization bill will be voted by Congress before the Easter recess.

Rep. Joseph Martin (R., Mass.), former Speaker, is confidently forecasting a new civil rights measure will be passed by Easter. He is also positive the House will act on this issue before the Senate.

At the suggestion of Senator Thomas Dodd (D., Conn.), the Democratic Campaign Committee of that chamber is distributing 10,000 copies of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's recent statement questioning the advisability of Premier Khrushchev's visit to the U.S. The famed G-man told the Senate Internal Security Committee, "The recent visit of Premier Khrushchev to the U.S. has done much to create an atmosphere favorable to Communism among Americans."

An Inquisitive Census

Americans will learn this year that they cannot put off the census taker with a few oral answers about name, age and address. The Census Bureau will mail in advance a questionnaire to be filled out, asking a number of questions about how many rooms you have, how much cooking equipment and what bathrooms.

If you happen to be the fourth home or apartment the enumerator reaches he will ask additional questions. He will inquire about your income, the cost of heating, and how you got to work—by car, subway, car pool or walking. Finally, whether there was a visitor in your house on the night of Thursday, March 31, 1960.

Business firms and individuals are today almost buried under a heavy load of paper work. This census year adds to the burden of the usual tax and Social Security forms. Millions of hours of time now have to be given, and thousands are employed to keep the Government operating.

Every time the Government steps in to regulate or improve economic or social affairs paper work follows inevitably in its train. The more Government intervenes the more paper is carried to the mountain that is already tall.

Americans are today more intimate with each other than in the days before they were concentrated in large cities and expanding suburbs. They are more deeply affected by the living conditions of their neighbors and how they get to work. Housing and mass transportation are vital matters to all, and government performance has to have a hand in them.

The Pennsylvania Story

Raising State Gas Tax

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Pointed up with almost painful clarity during the Senate Highway Committee hearings here was the striking divergence of view points over whether Pennsylvania's highway program is adequate or inadequate.

Whether it is — or isn't — with each passing day is having greater and greater impact on the growing horde of motorists who daily clog the highways and byways of the Keystone State.

The simple fact is that the highways of today are used either directly or indirectly by every single resident of Pennsylvania.

Or expressed bluntly — the highway problem of today is a far cry from the "problem" of just plain dirt roads of a half century ago.

Highways that carry today's traffic are readily conceded to be woefully inadequate — so much so that facilities now being fitfully built and pictured originally as "looking to ten years hence" are almost inadequate before they are opened to traffic!

Constructing highways today isn't a matter of a few thousand dollars, or for that matter a few million dollars. A mile of highway today oftentimes costs more than a million dollars to build.

Just for Pennsylvania alone, Secretary of Highways Park H. Martin brought out at the recent Senate Highways Committee hearing, roughly $3 would be needed over the next 12 years to bring Pennsylvania's highway system up to snuff — and this, in the words of highwayman Martin, "would permit to be done only what had to be done."

All of this serves to point up the divergence of view points on the highway scene in Pennsylvania.

During the past 1959 legislative session the Democratic Lawrence Administration proposed increasing Pennsylvania's gasoline tax one cent a gallon as a means of helping meet these growing highway demands and needs.

The legislation cleared the Administration — controlled House of Representatives but died a twitching death in the anti-administration Republican-controlled Senate.

General theme of GOP Senate argument against the increased levy centered around the points that (a) the increase was not needed, (b) the department couldn't spend that much money anyway.

One thing is certain: Pennsylvania's highways today — like every other state's — are simply inadequate, and no means have been found yet to build highways without money.

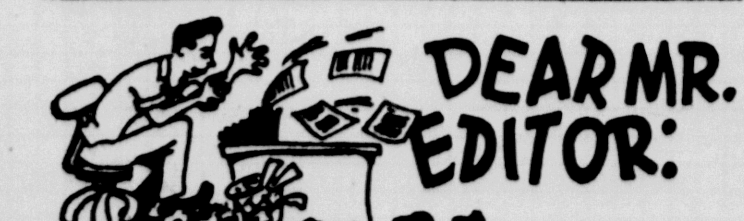

Whether the department could or could not "spend that much money" with its oft-castigated "limited facilities" most certainly will not be known if it doesn't have the money in the first place.

On the other hand — without the funds there won't be the needed highways.

Republican lawmakers may have "saved" Pennsylvania motorists a penny a gallon in gas tax (a penny lost or gained daily in local gas "wars") but by the same token they may have literally cut the rubber on which transportation rides tomorrow.

Which side is in the right of course remains to be determined — but the weight on the scales most certainly seems to be in favor in this instance of the money spenders.

The current 1960 "annual" session is limited to tax and fiscal matters. Republicans seemingly would do well to reappraise their position on the question of the penny-a-gallon gas tax increase — and if the Lawrence Administration can't handle the program that would then be available, the GOP definitely would be "in the saddle!"

Defends Commissioners

The Daily Record Dear Editor:

I fail to see why all the controversy between the County Commissioners and the Children's Aid Society. It has me quite confused.

I was under the impression that the majority of people elected the people they wanted to run their county. Then why can a handful of frustrated women throw a "monkey wrench" into the normal functioning of our elected officers' running of the county? Right or wrong, they are our governing force until the next election. Then, if these women do not approve, they can exercise their legal rights at the polls.

Let's have no more of this wrangling and let the commissioners do the job they were elected to do—protecting the children of the county.

Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

Just as it seems that accidents happen in threes and you run across a new word you've just learned half a dozen places, so it seems that I've been reading about the dangers of the stratification of our society in every paper or magazine I pick up.

I suppose the new studies of the new population shifts into super-cities which threaten to turn the Eastern seaboard into one city stretching for 600 miles have touched off the articles on the growth of new communities—so homogenous that one town may be filled with pre-school children and no baby sitters within miles while the next will be filled with teenagers with no babies to baby sit for.

We haven't quite reached that stage yet since new houses are filling in the spaces between the old houses and every street, almost, has its quotas of old-settlers and new-comers. Though there are exceptions even here.

Then, too, there is the stratification of social life by age groups: the children belong to Scouts, school clubs, youth fellowships and parents belong to clubs, lodges, adult Bible classes—but never the twain seem to meet. No longer, even in entertaining, are both children and parents included.

Wherefore then occurs a phenomenon which I, for one, regret: there is a definite hiatus in our knowledge of each other:

We know our parents' friends—then there's a big jump to our own friends; the people we went to school with or who went to school with older or younger brothers and sisters or people we work with—and another big jump to the new generation of our own children and their friends—and then a dwindling off until a whole new generation grows up that we don't know at all.

There are remedies I suppose: going to the high school plays even if nobody in the family is in it, making a special effort to keep track of the children of your younger acquaintances—but it has to be a special effort and is no longer a natural way of life.

Which is one reason why, as we grow older, our ideas take the same well worn track, our habits jell, and we gradually are pushed into resentment at developments we don't understand.

St. Paul's ULW Elects Officers For New Year

Tannersville — Mrs. Elsie Beseker, president of the United Lutheran Women of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, of Tannersville, opened the January meeting with a reading.

Mrs. Betty Rowe was in charge of the program, "Priscilla, The Missionary." Others participating were Mrs. Esther Peechatka, Mrs. Lydia Sebring, Mrs. Helen Holland, Mrs. Betty Warner, Mrs. Shirley Curtis, Mrs. Ella Bissinger, Mrs. Olive Munch, Mrs. Peechatka, Mrs. Fannie Hay, Miss Mary Wehner and Miss Viola Learn. Mrs. Esther Peechatka closed the program with prayer.

Mrs. Beseker appointed Mrs. Nita Morris, Mrs. Lydia Sebring and Mrs. Marie Gravatt to the auditing committee.

Mrs. Edith Brong, of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers selected to serve for two year terms. They are:

President, Mrs. Betty Rowe; vice president, Mrs. Virginia Gantzhorn; secretary, Mrs. Wynne Below; treasurer, Mrs. Sally Newhart; statistical secretary, Mrs. Betty Woodling; Christian service, Mrs. Marie Gravatt; offerings, Miss Caryl Nilund; membership, Mrs. Cora Sebring; education, Mrs. Laura Horn.

A birthday card, to be sent to Miss Annie Powlas, a missionary in Japan, was signed by all members present. Miss Powlas, who worked with Dr. and Mrs. Edward T. Horn, in Japan, visited the local meeting of the ULCW in November 1959.

Mrs. Virginia Gantzhorn displayed a church magazine showing children dressed in clothing made under the Dorcas plan, in which the Tannersville church had assisted.

Mrs. Laura Horn spoke on "The Monroe Council Of Church Women." She told of the activities of the council. An invitation was extended to all churchwomen to attend a supper at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on February 4.

Mrs. Beseker urged all members to attend the upcoming congregational supper and to bring their families.

Mrs. Shirley Curtis, Mrs. Esther Peechatka and Mrs. Marion Peechatka were named hostesses for the next meeting, to be held at the church on February 23. Program chairman will be Mrs. Betty Woodling. The topic will be, "Lydia, The Business Woman."

Thirty members attended. Refreshments were served by

Okunos Get First Sight Of Japanese Kin As Love Conquers Time And Distance

Mrs. Glenn Hall, the former Yukiko Okuno of Kyoto, Japan

Time and distance both failed to conquer love in the real life romance of Glenn Hall and of Virginia Yukiko Okuno of Kyoto, Japan. It was 13 years ago in 1947, that Glenn Hall was serving with the United States Forces in Japan that they met and fell in love.

However in those days, Gen. Douglas MacArthur had issued strict orders against intermarriage and Hall, his tour of duty with the Osaka Military Police ended, was sent back to the United States.

It was 13 years later that he was able to return to Japan, and renew his courtship which ended after two months with a civil ceremony, followed by a religious service in the seventh Day Adventist Church in Yokohama.

They arrived in Los Angeles on December 28 and have been traveling through the United States, heading towards the Stroudsburg where they arrived on Friday and where they hope to settle permanently.

Monroe County comes into the story because the former Yukiko Okuno is the niece of A. Okuno, veteran gift shop owner in Delaware Water Gap and comes from his home city of Kyoto, which he gift show owner in Delaware 35 years ago. Yukiko is the first of his family he has seen in all those years.

Kyoto as a religious center of Japan was one of the few cities in Japan which were not bombed during the war.

Mr. Hall a graduate of the Richmond Professional Institute, a branch of the College of William and Mary, is a commercial artist.

His bride who speaks excellent English, has had a broad, if hurried, impression of the United States where the most amazing thing to her has been the wide expanse of country, the distances between one home and the next, between one town and the next, in contrast to her homeland where every inch of space is utilized to its fullest degree.

The Halls are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Okuno at their home on Mount Zion.

Daughter For The Worthingtons

A daughter, their third child, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Reginald H. Worthington of Rumson, N. J., on January 31 at the New York Lying-in Hospital.

Mrs. Worthington is the former Miss Kathryn Papsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Papsen of Stroudsburg.

Mr. Worthington is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Worthington of Shawnee-on-Deleware. He is assistant manager of the Newark, N. J., office of the Trask and Co.

New Ways To Make Lamb A Special

By Alice Denhoff

Lamb chops are an old favorite, practical for a family of two or eight. Loin chops are on the luxurious side and so perfect for that special dinner party.

So here is an interesting and different loin chop recipe to serve four.

Sprinkle salt and pepper to taste on four loin lamb chops about 1/2 in. thick.

Broil chops

Broil chops three-four in. from source of heat five-seven min. Turn and broil five min.

Meanwhile, combine one-third c. ketchup, one-fourth c. each chili sauce and firmly-packed brown sugar; mix well.

Top each chop with a slice of onion and ketchup mixture. Broil two-three min. or to desired degree of doneness.

Rice and Lamb Chop Bake tastes good and is very hearty.

To serve four, combine three c. cooked rice, one (1 1/2 oz.) pkg. dehydrated mushroom soup mix and one chopped, medium-sized onion, mixing well.

Turn into greased, shallow baking dish. Top with four rib lamb chops, about 1/2 in. thick. Bake at 350° 30 min. or until chops are done.

Lamb Paprika

And here's a wonderful recipe for Lamb Paprika.

Trim all skin and as much fat as possible from two pounds lean shoulder of lamb and cut meat into bite-sized morsels.

Heat two tbs. butter in heavy kettle. Mince two onions and brown lightly in butter. Add meat and brown it well.

Add Tomato Pulp

Add 1 1/2 c. tomato pulp (fresh or canned), tbs. chopped parsley, salt and paprika to taste. Cover and simmer gently 1 1/2 hrs. or until meat is tender.

If necessary, add a little hot water or stock, as required. Taste for seasonings, add one c. sour cream, then reheat to just boiling point.

Serve at once with an accompanying dish of noodles.

A fine winter number, this one!

Junior High Models Its Own Designs

In the weekly assembly program at the East Stroudsburg Junior High School, the girls of the home economics department under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Ruth Theisen, presented a fashion show. The girls modeled garments which they had made themselves in their sewing classes.

Ninety-six girls volunteered to model their garments. Included were aprons by seventh grade girls, skirts and jumpers by eighth and ninth grade girls, and dresses and suits by ninth grade girls. Among the specialties were slacks, skating outfits, and a divided riding skirt.

Excellent as the regular models were, the junior models stole the show. These were five little girls about three years old whose sisters had made them dresses or jumpers like their own. The little models came down the aisle with their sisters against background music and showed off their dresses like professionals.

One little girl carried a doll dressed in a copy of her own dress, both made by her sister. The girls were coached in the modeling by Mrs. Anne Olenick in the gym classes. Fashion commentators for the show who gave interesting facts and approximate cost of the garments, were Linda Huffman and Eleanor Groener.

Dior's Blimp Shape Splits Fashion Camp

By Nadeane Walker

Paris (AP) — Dior introduced the blimp shape Wednesday to do battle with Nini Ricci's new silhouette, splitting the world of high fashion into two camps.

One side is led by Dior's Yves Saint Laurent and the Cardin faction who want to bring back slacks and chemises, tents and trapezes.

The other, led by designer Jules Crahay of Nina Ricci, is all for flaring pleated skirts, small waistlines, and a shapely, flattering silhouette.

This year the battle is around the waist; hemlines are not even an issue. Everybody is for the knee-length skirt, sometimes showing just a flicker of knee-cap.

Dior's showing seemed to be a critical success; the audience applauded enthusiastically. But on second thought, fashion experts admitted they had found no world-shaking originality.

What Sain Laurent calls "the silhouette of tomorrow" still has echoes of yesterday. The form most typical of his collection is a rounded or curved flare from bust to hemline—with bust, waist and hips lost en route.

Only in some evening formals are busts accented and waistlines fitted high and small. Saint Laurent calls them feminine and sinuous. But he still makes lots of formal tents.

HOW TO TELL QUALITY DRYCLEANING

- Check trouser cuffs for lint.
- Collar, shoulders, and neckline should feel pressed and fit smoothly ... as when new.
- Look for a molded, firmly pressed chest in men's suits.
- Lapels and sleeves rolled unless creases are specified.
- Entire garment free from pocket, seam and button impressions.
- Creases should be straight and sharp. No wrinkles.
- Straight hemlines and pleats—on women's clothes.
- Bows, ornaments, and buttons, if removed in cleaning, should be replaced.

Stroudsburg Opens Second Half LV Season Home Tonight

Cavaliers At Bangor; MSL Set For Duty

STROUD Union will have to do it the hard way if its to be done.

The Mountaineers open their second half Lehigh Valley schedule tonight at home against Emmaus and must meet Cataqua and Whitehall the 1-2 teams in the league on the road back-to-back during the half.

In other games tonight, East Stroudsburg, on a winning streak of one game, is at Bangor, while Southern Wayne goes to Lake Ariel in the Wayne County League.

Tie For Fourth
Stroudsburg finished in a tie for fourth place in the first half with Slattington. Both clubs had 3-4 marks.

The Mounties have a good chance to better that mark, as two of the teams that beat Bob Wert's club, play in the West Main Street gym this time around.

Both Lehigh and Palmerston dumped the Mountaineers, but did it outside of Stroudsburg. Stroud beat Slattington and Emmaus away and topped Northampton at home.

But the Mountaineers lost to the two big powers of the league, Cataqua and Whitehall at home and must travel to unfriendly territory to seek revenge.

Todd Williams ended the first half in fifth place in league scoring with 139 points for a 10.9 mark.

Ray Carazo of Palmerston edged Rich (Tiny) Saylor of Cataqua for the point title, 29-9 to 25-4.

Seek 3rd In 12
East Stroudsburg, in sixth place in the Lehigh-Northampton shoots for its second win in the last 11 games against Bangor. The Slaters have not won a loop game in 10 attempts and have won only two exhibition games.

Bill Hillman, who has averaged 20.1 points per contest in his last six outings, is closing in on teammate John Hindman for the leadership in season scoring. Hindman has hit 262 points while Hillman has counted 250.

It's win to stay alive for Barrett. If Coolbaugh beats Barrett tonight and Tobyhanna, a heavy favorite to take Polk, wins, its all over in the Monroe County League.

The win would give the Tobies the second half championship and coupled with their first half crown, would eliminate a play-off.

The teams have only position night after tonight's get-togethers. However, it was the first half position night that cost Barrett the first half championship.

Won Earlier
Barrett had beaten Tobyhanna earlier in the half to break a first place deadlock but on position night was knocked off by Pocono Twp. to stalemate the clubs again. Tobyhanna won the crown playoff.

Chestnuthill, with only a win over Polk in the second half faces Pocono Twp. at Tannersville and the league's leading scorer in Phil Vishnesky. Vishnesky has hit 25 or more points in his last five ball games.

In the first half, Chestnuthill, winless in four starts, upset Pocono Twp. on the 1-13 in loop play, gets a chance to revenge an earlier Lake Ariel loss. Lake Ariel features Bob Stroup, who set a school record Friday by scoring 47 points alone win.

Heavy Favorite
Sword Dancer, top-weighted and early favorite for Hialeah's $100, 600 Widener Handicap at 129 pounds, carried 126 Monday, most of it being jockey Eddie Arcaro who flew from California to ride the Brookmeade star. Sword Dancer was heavy favorite at 25 cents to the dollar.

"I was as hard on him as I could be for a horse coming out for the first time, but we certainly have no excuses," Arcaro said. "He just didn't have that extra kick."

"I had a little hold on him at the beginning — not a real good hold, just a little one. What I think may have fouled us up was that they didn't do much running the first part of it, so that when I tried to get to those other horses they had something left, too."

Washington Seen Producing New Bomb Jewel In Dobbek

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The newest jewel mined by Washington's Senators from their farm system, which produced Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison as the wonder boys of 1959, appears to be a formidable looking young man named Dan Dobbek.

Dobbek is a left-handed hitting outfielder who excited Washington fans and Manager Cookie Lavagetto after his recall last September from Chattanooga, where Killebrew and Allison were graduated in 1958. Dobbek batted .269 at Chattanooga, a modest item, but his home run production wasn't.

In a park of distant fences, he batted 23 homers, in addition to 30 doubles and four triples. In a two-week period with Washington, he slugged two triples and a long home run.

As Lavagetto envisions it, Dobbek will be the center fielder next season with Allison moving to right.

"He is a very extraordinary rookie," said Lavagetto. "He is the best fielding outfielder on the club."

The 24-year-old newcomer of speed and muscle had a two-week trial as far back as the spring of 1957 before the draft board seized him for the Army. He received a longer test last spring before it was decided to season him at Chattanooga.

Lavagetto will inspect a half dozen young pitchers. Right-hander Ted Abernathy and southpaw Ralph Lumenti, have had previous trials. A first-timer with Washington is Don Lee, the strapping son of former major league pitcher star Thornton Lee. Young Lee — once with Detroit — was drafted from Louisville. However, he did his pitching in Charleston.

Turley Signs Yankee Contract
NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Bob Turley signed his 1960 contract with the New York Yankees Monday for a reported $30,000.

Neither Turley nor the club divulged the exact figure, but Turley, bitter a week ago when he said he was asked to take a 24 per cent cut, stated: "I am very happy with the terms."

Turley, a right-hander, made $32,000 last year after a 21-7 record in 1958. Last year he dropped to 8-11.

Sword Dancer Finishes 4th In Hialeah Winter Debut
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sword Dancer, 1959 Horse of the Year, made his winter debut at Hialeah Park Monday and finished fourth in a seven-furlong race won by Petare, an aging Argentine-bred.

Petare owned by Comito Stud and recently turned nine years old, ran the distance in 1:23.15 on a fast track and defeated Fair and Haskin's Master Polynah by a nose.

Basilio's Co-Managers Barred For Life From New York Rings

NEW YORK (AP)—The State Athletic Commission Monday barred Carmen Basilio's co-managers — Johnny DeJohn and Joe Netro — for life from New York rings and fined Syracuse match-maker-promoter Norman Rothchild $2,000 for making payments to an undercover (unlicensed) manager.

All three admitted at an inquiry that they had made payments to Gabe Genovese, who was convicted last June of being the undercover manager of lightweight Ludwig Lightburn of British Honduras, Genovese, of Miami Beach, was sentenced to a two-year prison term.

It is illegal for an unlicensed person to participate in a boxing show in New York. It also is illegal for a licensee to deal with unlicensed persons in making matches.

The commission declared Basilio's contract with DeJohn and Netro null and void and ordered the 32-year-old former welterweight and middleweight champion not to make any further payments to them.

The commission's action against the two managers virtually bars them from boxing in most other states as well. New York and the National Boxing Assn. often recognize each other's penalties.

"I will be my own manager," said Basilio at his Canastota, N.Y., home, when advised of the commission's decision. "We were together eight years and I can only say I would never want anyone else to handle my affairs."

Highest Praise
"Let me add that Joe and Johnny never did a single thing to hurt me. They were honest and above board in all dealings and I have only the highest praise for their abilities."

DeJohn, of Syracuse, and Netro, of Ithaca, N.Y., could not be reached immediately for comment.

Rothchild, in Syracuse, said he accepted the commission's ruling without argument.

"After all, their decision was reached after careful study of all evidence, and I do not feel I should keep the matter open with violent protests," he said.

SIGNED, SEALED AND DELIVERED—Officials of the proposed Continental Baseball league congratulate each other in New York after Buffalo was admitted formally to the new loop, completing the eight-club lineup. From left are Reginald Taylor, Buffalo; Branch Rickey, league president; J. W. Bateson, Dallas; Jack Cooke, Toronto, and Don Grant, New York. Cooke is league vice president. Taylor, Bateson and Grant were named to the executive committee.

Gate Record Seen For Fight
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The doubleheader championship fight card outdoors at Memorial Coliseum Thursday night is a cinch to set a California gate record.

A crowd of perhaps 40,000 is expected for the rematch between world bantamweight champion Jose Becerra and France's Alphonse Halimi and the junior welterweight Carlos Ortiz of New York against unbeaten Battling Torres.

Carmen Basilio and Art Aragon set the present California record of $236,521 in their 1958 battle outdoors at Wrigley Field. Promoter Cal Eaton reports an advance sale of $200,000, in the title.

Becerra is a 10-7 favorite to retain the bantam crown he slugged from the head of Halimi last July 8 in Los Angeles. And Ortiz is 10-9 to outfox the hardsocking, 18-year-old Torres.

UCOfC Set For Parley On Housing

BUCK HILL FALLS—A comprehensive conference on the church and urban renewal will be held in Philadelphia, February 24 and 25, under the sponsorship of the United Church of Christ.

Final plans for the conference were developed here over the weekend by representatives of the Congregational Christian and the Evangelical and Reformed churches, the two groups which created the United Church.

The program will include experts on housing, city planning and urban redevelopment as well as theologians and church leaders.

Participants are expected to be largely ministers from Congregational Christian and Reformed churches within a hundred-mile radius of Philadelphia. . . . The sessions will be held at the Robert Morris Hotel and at Christ Church in Philadelphia. According to Rev. Dr. John Shope, secretary for city church and urban strategy of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, Christ Church was chosen to house some of the sessions because its program and activities in recent years "provide a dynamic example of how an urban church can adjust to the population shifts typical of many inner city areas today."

Dear Abby

Oh, Brother, You're A Sucker

Dear Abby: I am a 18-year-old bachelor who is in love with a 27-year-old woman with two children. Her divorce (for which I am paying) is pending.

I bought her a new car and spent over $1,000 for clothes for her and her children. She says she'll marry me when she's free, but in the meantime I don't see much of her. She saves every Saturday night for me, but every Tuesday she dates her old boy-friend (she says she's trying to let him down easy). On Wednesday she goes out with her boss. (She says her boss depends on this.) Thursday nights she "free-lances" with the girls. Sunday she reserves for her husband because he likes to see the kids, but he stays all night against her lawyer's orders. My friends say I am being taken for a ride. Am I?

DOUG

Dear Doug: You are not only "being taken for a ride"—you'll be lucky if you don't get hurt in the traffic.

Dear Abby: I am a sophomore girl. I'm not especially beautiful, but I'm not exactly ugly either. Let's say I am about average. Abby, if I had my wish, I would wish that I could turn into a boy every time there was a school dance. I would go around and ask all the broken-hearted girls sitting on the sidelines to dance.

Dear Abby: I have a friend who refuses to leave her house because she is afraid her 18-year-old daughter might eat something.

This daughter looked like a baby elephant a year ago. Her mother took her to a doctor who put her on a strict diet. The girl lost about sixty pounds, but she still isn't skinny.

My friend says every time she leaves her daughter alone she finds empty cans of spaghetti and pork and beans, and she can't trust her.

We have had many arguments over this because I say the mother can't be a policeman all her life. I'd like your opinion. GOOD FRIEND

Dear Friend: You are right. Although overweight is a physical problem, it usually has its roots in compulsive eating—which is an emotional one. Standing guard 24 hours a day will not help. The girl needs to see a psychiatrist.

Dear Abby: For my 12th birthday last year I was given a bike as my one and only present from my mother and father. I had an accident on it and haven't ridden it since. My father wants to sell it.

I think I should get the money from it as it was my bike. I wouldn't spend it foolishly. Just on clothes. Please answer soon. EDNA

Dear Edna: I think the money should be put in the bank—in your name—and you should be able to spend it with the approval of your parents.

O'Hara Confirmed As Third Public Utilities Member

HARRISBURG (AP) — William F. O'Hara of Scranton was confirmed by the Senate Monday night as the third Democratic member of the Public Utilities Commission, giving his party control of the rate-making body for the first time in some 20 years.

The vote was 42-2, with Sens. Arthur E. Kromer (R-Indiana) and Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin) casting the only dissenting votes. Taylor originally voted for O'Hara but switched his vote on the official tally.

Knocked Down

Minutes earlier, the Senate knocked down the nominations of Herbert J. McGlinchey, Philadelphia, and Raymond E. Gardlock, New Kensington, as members of the State Tax Equalization Board.

Appointment of the former New Kensington mayor and the reappointment of the former Philadelphia congressman were rejected by votes of 23-27. Both are Democrats.

Sen. Frank Kopriver (R-Allegheny) voted with the 22-member Democratic minority.

There was no debate on confirmation of O'Hara to a 10-year term on the five-member commission. The position pays $19,000 annually.

Democrats and Republicans locked in an extended debate on Gardlock and McGlinchey. The names of both were rejected in the 1959 session last Dec. 15 and resubmitted to the 1960 session when it convened Jan. 5.

Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader, said there were no new reasons for denying confirmation to the two. He said there was a question whether a man can be renominated after a Senate rejection and continue to serve on the board.

Twice No Good

"We have been given to understand that if a man is refused once, he can serve. But if he is refused twice, he cannot," Berger said.

Democrats contended that the two Democrats were being rejected because Republicans did not like the board's 1959 report which made substantial changes in property valuations. The valuations certified by the board are the basis for distribution of state school subsidies.

"If every board or commission that requires Senate confirmation must dance to the tune of the Republican fiddle, I want you to know that come this next election, I wouldn't be surprised to see a few more Democratic senators," said Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington).

Market Gets Off Floor, Recovers

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market got off the floor Monday, making a moderate recovery after a bad series of beatings.

It was the first time in four weeks that "Blue Monday" was not observed with a sharp decline.

The rebound was on such small volume—2,820,000 shares compared with 3,000,000 in Friday's sharp retreat—that it had little air of conviction about it.

Steels and motors were active leaders in the advance. A number of assorted chemicals, electronics and rubbers rose as industrial stocks carried the ball. Rails and utilities did little or nothing on average.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.58 to 626.20.

Of the 1,239 issues traded, however, gainers outnumbered losers by only 335 to 495. New lows for 1959-60 totaled 48. For the first time since Aug. 21, 1956, there were no new highs.

The AP average of 60 stocks rose 50 cents to $217.20 with the industrials up $1.30, the rails down 10 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks advanced, four declined and two were unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Volume slipped to 990,000 shares from 1,090,000 Friday.

Corporate bonds rose in fairly active trading.

U.S. government bonds rallied in fairly brisk trading amid definite signs of easier money.

Volume amounted to $3,950,000 par value compared with $6,950,000 Friday.

Easton RD Man Killed In Crash

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — Harry M. Broad, 73, of Easton RD 1, was killed Monday after his car swerved on the Nazareth-Tammy road and landed upside down on the Lehigh-New England Railroad tracks.

State police said Broad was traveling east when the car swerved and hit a concrete culvert before toppling over on the railroad tracks. They reported Broad may have had a heart attack.

Presbyterian Men To Meet

THE BIMONTHLY meeting of the East Stroudsburg Chapter of United Presbyterian Men will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

The speaker for the affair will be Dr. Douglas Fever, of Lehigh University.

A quartet will furnish music, and Gilbert Dunning will be in charge of devotions.

During the meeting, Dr. Nathan Meyer will announce the delegates to the Regional Conference of United Presbyterian Men to be held at the Hotel Statler, New York City, Feb. 13-14.

News Trucks Dynamited

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Dynamiters late Sunday night shattered 10 trucks used by Portland daily newspapers. Police said it was the work of someone experienced with explosives.

It was the first major violence on a wide scale since the newspapers were struck by the Stereotypes Union 84 days ago.

The city council quickly voted a $1,000 reward for the dynamiters' arrest.

Four trucks were parked beside the warehouse of a contract carrier here and six were parked at nearby Oregon City.

They were empty. No one was hurt.

Orders Disbarment

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP) — Liberia's President William V. S. Tubman has ordered prosecution and disbarment proceedings against lawyers who demanded excessive fees from clients. In an executive order, Tubman said many lawyers have been demanding exorbitant payments on the pretext they were necessary to ensure successful negotiations.

NOTICE is hereby given that at 7:30 P.M. February 2, 1960, in Courtroom 21, Monroe County Courthouse, Stroudsburg, Pa., the Zoning Commission for Stroud Township will consider the recommendations of a zoning and building code ordinance.

The zoning and building code ordinance is designed to promote the health, safety, morals, and general welfare of the Township of Stroud and to regulate the use of land, buildings, structures, and other improvements, and to regulate the height, number of stories and area of buildings, and other structures, their construction, alteration, extension, repair and maintenance, and to regulate the use of land and about such buildings and structures; the proportion of lot that may be occupied by the use of yards, courts, and other open spaces; the density of population; and the location and use of buildings, structures, and land for trade, industry, residence, and other purposes. The zoning and building code ordinance also proposes to establish and maintain building lines and setback lines on all public roads and highways, and to provide for division of the Township into certain districts and for uniform regulation for each class of use and building and land uses throughout each district.

Further, the zoning and building code ordinance under consideration proposes to govern and regulate the construction, alteration, extension, repair, demolition, occupation, maintenance, sanitation, lighting, ventilation, water supply, toilet facilities, drainage, use, occupation, and inspection of all buildings; the classification of the buildings by type, quality and safety of materials, construction and workmanship; regulation and control of heating installations; the sanitation and inspection of land appurtenant thereto; the establishment of fire limits; and provides for the issuing of permits and the maintaining of records and provides fines and penalties for violation as to promote the health, safety, and general welfare of the Township of Stroud.

The proposed ordinance will be inspected by any person interested at the following locations: (1) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (2) At the office of the Planning and Zoning Commission, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (3) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (4) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (5) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (6) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (7) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (8) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (9) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.; (10) At the office of the Township of Stroud, Stroudsburg, Pa.

Out To Halt Truck Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government acted Monday to halt a strike against a Philadelphia trucking firm on grounds that the Teamsters Union is violating "hot cargo" provisions of the new labor law.

The National Labor Relations Board said it will seek an injunction in the Federal District Court in Philadelphia. The five-member NLRB also will start its own proceedings, the announcement added.

NLRB General Counsel Stuart Rothman said Teamsters Local 107 was seeking a contract which would require E. A. Gallagher & Sons to cease doing business with self-employed owner-operators. The union has been on strike against Gallagher since Jan. 4.

Gallagher, the NLRB said, employs the union's members to operate its equipment but also contracts with independent owner-operators, who furnish their own equipment, for hauling freight into the Philadelphia area. The NLRB said a substantial part of this freight consists of full truck loads which the owner-operators deliver for Gallagher direct to where it is consigned.
